NEW ORLEANS — Sean McGorty of Stanford, Ryan Crouser of Texas, Mason Ferlic of Michigan and Nick Miller of Oklahoma State have been named the Male Scholar Athletes of the Year in NCAA Division I Track & Field for the 2015-16 season by the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCCA).

Combining their accomplishments in the classroom and in competition during the recently completed academic year, these four men were the most exceptional among a group of 570 men who earned USTFCCCA All-Academic honors on Thursday.

Scholar Athletes of the Year were selected as the highest finishing performers at the NCAA Division I Indoor and Outdoor Track & Field Championships who achieved All-Academic status. Those who won individual championship titles ranked higher in the tie-breaking process and cumulative GPA is weighed as the final tiebreaker.

Separate awards are given to track athletes and field athletes for the indoor and outdoor season, hence the four categories.

McGorty, a sophomore majoring in Management Science and Engineering, obtained a 3.51 GPA during the track & field season. The Fairfax, Virginia native is the first male athlete from Stanford to win the Indoor Track Scholar Athlete of the Year Award. He finished runner-up to Oregon's Edward Cheserek in the 3000 and anchored Stanford's DMR team to a fourth-place finish the previous night.

Crouser, a graduate student in Finance, held down a 3.47 GPA during his only season of eligibility this academic year. The Boring, Oregon native is the first Longhorn to win a Scholar Athlete of the Year Award from the Association. Crouser stood out in a big way as a
