NEW ORLEANS — Molly Seidel of Notre Dame, Courtney Frerichs of New Mexico and Lexi Weeks of Arkansas have been named the Female Scholar Athletes of the Year in NCAA Division I Track & Field for the 2015-16 season by the U.S. Track & Field and Cross Country Coaches Association (USTFCCA) on Thursday.

Combining their accomplishments in the classroom and in competition during the recently completed academic year, these three women were the most exceptional among a group of 910 women who earned USTFCCA All-Academic honors.

Scholar Athletes of the Year were selected as the highest finishing performers at the NCAA Division I Indoor and Outdoor Track & Field Championships who achieved All-Academic status. Those who won individual championship titles ranked higher in the tie-breaking process and cumulative GPA is weighed as the final tiebreaker.

Separate awards are given to track athletes and field athletes for the indoor and outdoor season for a total of four categories, but Weeks swept both field awards, giving us three.

Weeks, a freshman majoring in Chemistry, owned a perfect 4.0 GPA during her first collegiate campaign. The native of Cabot, Arkansas, is the second Razorback pole vaulter in a row to be named Indoor Field Scholar Athlete of the Year (Sandi Morris did so last year) and first Arkansas athlete to be named Outdoor Field Scholar Athlete of the Year. Weeks had a freshman year to remember as she swept the indoor and outdoor pole vault titles with jumps of 4.63m (15-2¼) and 4.50m (14-9), respectively.

Seidel, a senior majoring in Anthropology with a supplementary major in Arts & Letters Pre-Health, had a cumulative GPA of 3.545. The Hartland, Wisconsin native is the first female
