Southern California tailback Ricky Bell and Tennessee split quarterback and offensive tackle Kirk Lewis and Texas defensive tackle Brad Bevens, who will replace Cromwell the last three stops.

These student-athletes will travel from the East Coast to the Pacific Ocean and an outstanding coach will join the group for a press conference and luncheon or dinner in each city. The athletes and coach meet the press as a group the first part of each stop, but the majority of the time is devoted to individual interviews.

New York First

It begins Monday, August 9, with Notre Dame football player Dave Devine joining these athletes at New York's Essex House. Devine will become one of eight of the country's most successful college coaches to appear with the group.

Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer will be featured in the second stop of the day at a dinner at the Washington, D.C., Marriott Twin Bridges.

The tour moves to Detroit Tuesday with a luncheon press conference highlighting Arizona State Coach Frank Kush at the Pontchartrain Hotel. The group then joins Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant for dinner that evening at the Chicago Marriott O'Hare.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles travels to the Atlantic Peachtree Plaza August 11.

Traveling west to Dallas, Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne will appear at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport Marriott on the 11th. The final swing of the tour moves to the Pacific Coast, first with a stopover at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco August 13 with Penn State's Coach Joe Paterno, and finally with Texas Coach Darrell Royal at the Los Angeles Marriott Inn, Saturday.

Japanese Championships Set

Tennis

Selections were made recently for an eight-member NCAA tennis team for competition with the Japanese Collegiate All-Stars in Tokyo, Japan, September 20-23.

Heading the team are Southern California's Bruce Manson and New Mexico's Vic Hall, semi-finalists in the 1976 National Collegiate Tennis Championships, and Barbara Hallquist of Southern California, who won the 1975 USTA Women's National Inter-collegiate Championship.

Fielding the team will be Steve Weddington of Oklahoma City University, Stanford's Bill Mathis, Florida's Terry Mortimer of Oklahoma City's, Chris Lewis, and Sandy Stag of Trinity University, Stanford's Matt Mitchell is the first alternate for the team.

Weddington, Maze and women were quarterfinalists, while Lewis was runner-up's partner in the Trojans' doubles team, which finished second in the 1976 National Collegiate All-Star Championships at Corpus Christi, Texas.

Placed third in the 1976 USTA Women's National Championships at Salt Lake City.

Glen Barnett, head tennis coach with the UCA-champion of the 1976 National Collegiate Tennis Championships, will serve as coach of the NCAA All-Stars NCAA Tennis Committee Chairman Rolla Anderson, Kalamazoo College, also will accompany the team.

Selections were made by the NCAA Tennis Committee based on results of the 1976 National Collegiate Championships and following recommendations from the United States Tennis Association's Women's Collegiate Committee.

Co-Sponsor

Sports editor of the San Diego Union, a Japanese sports and recreation newspaper, is co-sponsoring the competition, and has been approved by the USTA, Japan Tennis Association and Japanese Student Tennis Federation.

Contract agreements for the competition were arranged between officials from both organizations last spring.

In June, officials signed other agreements establishing the second annual NCAA Japan Colle-
Under provisions of the Association's power to interpret division membership structure, 13 institutions were granted divisional changes by the Classification Committee at its spring 20-July 2 meeting in Denver.

The Suit Goes On

The NCAA's suit to have the Title IX interpretation regulations set aside is pending in Federal District Court in Kansas. Trial is not expected until late fall. Meanwhile, several events have occurred.

First, after some delay, HEW filed a motion to dismiss. Routine.

CoSIDA Launches Anti-Gambling Campaign

Two earlier workshop panel sessions at its national convention in Cincinnati, June 20-24, and a strong endorsement of its activities by NCAA Commissioner Walter Byers, have given CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America) a strong momentum and support needed to increase its efforts at a truly national level.

The committee, formed after CoSIDA Director Dave McHale in 1975 at its Workshop in Houston designed to dissociate college football from gambling-related advertising, was supported by gambling-related advertising in college football.

"Totals" themselves, floundered in their first year due to a major lack of coordination on the part of many parties.

"For the first-year effort to remove or eliminate exposure of gambling was an utter and dismal failure," reported committee chairman Dave Matthews of Harvard. "However, we were happy to report successfull coordination efforts June 29 by the Collegiate Commission's sports information directors, which has expanded in Cincinnati. We hope to resolve this problem.

In one of the most sobering speeches ever delivered at a CoSIDA Workshop, McHale told the more than 150 athletic administrators and coaches that "the best interests of our institutions and our country depends on gambling-related advertising. It hopes to diminish gambling-related advertising by encouraging national advertisers to participate.

What is required of a college who wishes to be represented in the second Japan-USA Collegiate Golf Championship in December 1976? "The committee is urging each participating college to discuss its campaign directly with the athletic director of the school in question," McHale said.

"We commend the Associated Press for continued support in college football and basketball games, and equally commend the support of United Press International for volunteering to adopt gambling-related advertising by encouraging national advertisers to participate.

The committee's revised efforts appear to have been successful, according to McHale, who reported that "no college bookmaker has been asked to purchase advertising space to carry it, you might as well carry the names and numbers of the bookmaker's associates. They're run by the same people." But McHale admitted that "there is no such thing as victimless crime and nothing else is even close," noted the RFP official.

"We're excited about this year's CoSIDA's Radio Promos Aired. Football fans across the nation can look forward to another preview of the upcoming season. "College Football '76" will be aired live for three weeks, with ABC Sports personality Keith Jackson hosting these two-hour programs. It would be a great idea to run right through the fall season. "College Football '76," it appears that college football benefits to a great extent from this popular college football program.

Oklahoma State’s Consistency Secures Golf Crown

Something about consistency was in the heart of competition as exemplified by Oklahoma State University winning the 1976 National Collegiate Golf Championships in Albuquerque, New Mexico’s warm, sunny climate.

Cowboy consistency averaged just under 79 strokes for every round turned in by their winning foursome.

Lindy Miller, fourth-place finisher in 1975, and Jaime Gonzalez fired 460 birdies to tie with Houston’s Keith Ferguson and Iowa’s Louton Neison for ninth spot in leading the Cowboys.

Miller shot 71-75-72-72, while Gonzalez finished the Oklahoma University of New Mexico South Course in 72-73-69-76.

But their two teammates also contributed to Oklahoma State’s success in admirable fashion. Britt Harrison tied for 14th with a 231 (71-76-78-76) and Tom Jones tied for 33rd with a 235 (77-78-75-75).

Oklahoma State tallied an impressive 1,166, only 14 strokes above par after 300 team frames. The Cowboys consistency outskotred runner-up Brigham Young’s 1,173, the best finish by the Cougars in the Championship’s 78-year history.

Four strokes separated second and fifth places. Third-place Houston recorded a 1,174, two strokes besting champion Wake Forest slipped to fourth with a 1,176. New Mexico turned in a 1,176.

Southern California’s Scott Simpson fired a five-under par 283, sixting the course with a 67 on his final round. But individual honors were not decided until his final shot on the 72nd hole.

Near Perfect

After shooting 68-74-74 on his three previous rounds, Simpson was near perfect during his last trip. On the final par-5, 612-yard 18th hole, appropriately labelled “the Monster,” Simpson lay three in a bunker beside the green. If he saved par the championship was his, but if he bogied, a play-off with runner-up Barton Goodwin of Rice, who already was in the clubhouse with a 284 was evident.

Simpson confidently blasted his chip shot safely on the green, but left himself about an 18-foot putt. Talk about pressure! The Pacifie-8 Conference medalist steared up to the ball and drilled it home for the title.

Oregon’s Jeff Sanders finished third with 285, followed by East Tennessee State’s Alton Stringer, who recorded a 286.

Simpson and Ohio State’s Mark Baker’s 287 were the two lowest single-round cards turned in at the Championship.

Jay Haas, 1975 individual champion from Wake Forest, surprisingly was not in contention for honors this year. Haas’ 300 tied for 78th-place and was not included in the Deacons’ final low four-man team total.

Deacons Curtis Stronger, 1974 champ and third-place finisher last year, recorded an even par 288 for seventh-place. Brigham Young’s Mike Reid and Florida’s Phil Hanson shot 287, tying for fifth-place and were the only other sub-par shooters in the tournament.

INDIVIDUAL RESULTS

1. Scott Simpson (Southern California) 283. 2. Barton Goodwin (Brigham Young) 284. 3. Jeff Sanders (Oregon State) 286. 4. Mike Reid (Brigham Young) 287. 5. Mike Brighm (Brigham Young) 287. 7. Curtis Stronge (Wake Forest) 288. 9. Del Pino (Tennessee State) 290. 10. Jason Pike (Boise State) 291.

TEAM RESULTS

1. Oklahoma State 1,166. 2. Brigham Young 1,173. 3. Wake Forest 1,175. 4. New Mexico 1,176. 5. New Mexico State 1,178. 6. Southern California 1,179. 7. East Tennessee State 1,182. 8. Maryland 1,184. 9. Oregon 1,194.

Head Traffic

Traffic gets tied up during final action of the 1975 National Collegiate Division II Lacrosse Championship. Hobart battled Adelphi to an 18-9 win for the title.

Coach Jerry Schmidt’s squad, which tied Towson State in 1974, and Cortland State in last year’s Championship for the majority of both contests, jumped to a quick 1-0 lead after just 42 seconds in this year’s action.

John Bishop connected for the game’s first score. The relaxation between Adelphi’s opening possession margin to 4-0 on scores by Jim Cainen, Terry Cunningham and Ron McAdam, the latter coming in the 12th stanza.

John Bishop’s goal was the 10th for Adelphi’s first five assists, broke the tie for Adelphi two minutes later. Hobart enthusiasts began to wonder if the game would become a repeat of last year’s title clash when the Statesmen jumped to a 3-0 lead against arch-rival Cortland State.

Critics Quieted

Schmidt’s squad made two clout attempts at the n ' s l e e r by the ’ s ’ s of 1-0 to 1-1 and 1-2 in the first two quarters.

Adelphi slowed the tempo in the second period, but the Panthers saw Hobart’s lead jump to 13-3 at intermission. Paul Donutt and Bootie Gringeri added one each for the Terps in the final five minutes to hand the Blackman’s the win.

Hobart’s defensive crew of Jay Caruso, Tom Mullen and Bootie Gringeri joined goal-

In an unusual dual, Fisk's Aubrey Wiggins captured national titles in one track and one field event, to complete his second national title. After Wiggins upset the meet record in the long jump, followed with a 48.5 first-place in the 400-meter dash.

Winston-Salem State's Tom Dupuis tossed the shot a meet record 65.5 feet. After Wiggins' win, Dupuis' win, and the last throw of the afternoon, Winston-Salem's Bob Howard knew a personal best was required to win the event. Howard stepped into the circle and let his put spin twice before hitting a 69.2-foot throw to land the last throw of the afternoon to win his second straight national title. Wiggins repeated his shot put crown with a 65.7-foot effort in the last round of the afternoon.

Kris Enos Moses, who had the only field event win in the world going into the meet, fell short of the world record in the high jump.

The night ended with Adelphi University's second consecutive outdoor title. The Adelphi Golden Eagles placed first in the 400-meter dash, Eastern Illinois' Edward Hamilton swept to the finals with a 48.8 win, and Adelphi's defending champion Kevin Lee placed third.

Track Earns USC Third Title

Despite claiming only one individual championship, the University of Southern California won the 1976 National Collegiate Outdoor Track Championships at Philadelphia's Franklin Field.

Adelphi University captured the most individual titles in swimming and a tie with USC in the men's track program. The Pac-10's triple crown was the result of a two-year effort by both the program and the championship in the Association during the 1975-76 athletic year. USC's lead in team titles increased to 3 to 1 for this year's three crowns since the beginning of the National Collegiate Championships.

Fuzzy Wright won the 440-meter relay with defending champion Jody Miller, long jump, and anchor the winning 440-meter relay.

The Trojans' other two victories came at the University of California, Los Angeles. Teammate Joshua Kimeloff earned the Cougars' other individual title based on a 13.94.84 in the 100-meter hurdles.

Texas-El Paso's second-place finish also relied mostly on supportive roles with defending champion Jim Mullins winning his third title with an NCAA record 2:24.86 in the 3,000-meter steeplechase.

Tennessee and Washington State both boasted a pair of individual champions. John Young and Reginald James combined for a first in the 400-meter relay with a 39.16, while Philip Olsen snared the javelin 223-2 for the Volunteers.

Coughlin's Scott Nelson threw a 216-3 in the hammer throw, and Barry Chambul tossed the discus 292-3.

Cobleigh Record

Villanova's Emmet Coughlin nabbed his second national title with a 197.9 in the 10,000-meter run, breaking Olympic champion Dave Wollett's 3:37.9 in 1972. Coughlin won the indoor mile this year.

Quentin Wheeler of San Diego State set a new NCAA mark in the 400-meter hurdles by winning with a 49.0.

World-class pole vaulter Earl Powell claimed his second championship, vaulting 18-11, surpassing his NCAA record 18-10 set last year. Bell also is a two-time indoor champion and holds the record with a vault of 18-13 in 1975.

Other first-place winners included San Jose State's Dedy Cooper in the 110-meter hurdles (13.30), Division II champ Larry Myricks of Mississippi College in the long jump (25'-0); Drexel's Tom Stilley of Texas (5:05); and Arizona State's winning 1,000-meter relay.

Baseball Championship Earns Cal State-Stanislaus 2nd Title

Winning the 1976 National Collegiate Division III Baseball Championship clinched California State University-Stanislaus its second national crown this spring.

Cal State-Stanislaus clinched its first season of NCAA competition with a 13-6 victory over Ithaca College.

The Warriors also won the national crown in golf this spring.

Only two other member institutions have won a place in the young three-year history of Division III Championships. Ashland won the cross country championships in 1972 and outdoor track and field in 1974.

Cal State-Stanislaus swept three first-round contests to win the first Division III Baseball Championship, defeating runner-up Ithaca twice at Marietta College (Ohio).

In first-round action, the Warriors capitalized on four Ithaca errors to scatter only five hits for a 2-1 win.

Ithaca's road to the finals was decorated by playing sound defense to come-from-behind 5-4 win.

Ithaca's road to the finals was decorated by a 16-3 shellacking, and sent the Broncos hanging onto a 3-1 lead over Reese after 54 holes, finished fourth at 295. Cal-State-Stanislaus' Steve Rodriguez picked up the win in relief of starter Bill Siemore in the fifth inning. Rodriguez allowed just one hit and no runs for the remainder of the game.

Siemore and Rodriguez were aided by shortstop Dave Brown, whose four hits, was seven for 11 in the Championship. Rodriguez at the bottom of the order.

Broncos' striker like a thunderbolt, the Broncos exploded for nine runs on eight hits, while second baseman Mike Valpone and catcher John Farnar each added a pair.

The three-year Division II Championship in Springfield, Illinois, pitted the Broncos against Ithaca in the finals. The Cougars defeated Florida Southern, 9-5; Livingstone, 11-4, and Southeast Missouri State, 8-0.

Southern Illinois enjoyed three consecutive wins to advance to the finals. The Cougars defeated Florida Southern, 9-6; Livingstone, 11-4, and Southeast Missouri State, 8-0.

Cal Poly had the decided disadvantage against Southern Illinois in the finals. For the Broncos, there was no tomorrow, with the Cougars enjoying the security of being up.
Arizona ShirkS World Series Bridesmaid Role

Wildcats Win First National Title

Any reputation the University of Arizona might have had in college baseball circles as a bridesmaid was forgotten in Omaha, Nebraska, June 19, when the Wildcats captured the 1976 College World Series.

Coach Jerry Kindall's club not only enjoyed Arizona's initial Series crown, but also was the school's first national collegiate title in any sport by defeating an impressive Eastern Michigan team 1-0, in the finals.

Leftfielder Bob Chaulk tossed a six-hitter en route to the Wildcats' third Series crown, but also the school's first national collegiate title in any sport by defeating an impressive Eastern Michigan team 1-0, in the finals. But stepping from bridesmaid to the alter was certainly no walk for Arizona. In fact, the Wildcats became only the sixth team in the 30-year Series history to earn the title after dropping its first-round opener.

Arizona was invited into the original 32-team Division I bracket as an at-large selection after finishing runner-up in the Western Athletic Conference to champion Arizona State, which qualified automatically.

Winner of the Midwest Regional, Arizona advanced to Omaha, obviously aware it had dropped six straight regular season meetings with the Arizona-Arizona State rivalry. The winner would advance to the finals against Eastern Michigan, which suffered its first loss of the Series to Arizona.

Arizona, after beating Arizona in the first-round, stopped Washington State, 9-2 and was sent to the loser's bracket after yielding to Eastern Michigan, 2-1. Following another victory, 7-6 against Maine, the Rams were ready for Arizona in the semifinals.

Arizona felt confident despite surrendering that opening defeat as it gained composure in its three successive wins. There was no way they could lose an eighth time in a season, according to most Wildcat boosters. They were right.

Powers Super

Powers fired the stunning, 5-1, four hitter at all three ASU batters managed hits. The Wildcats cutraged for 11 of their own, including three by Van Horne. And by now, Arizona, 5-6-1 for the year, had gained too much momentum and easily disposed of Eastern Michigan. However, the runners sported an excellent club by gaining admittance to the finals on a 2-1 series record.

Coach Ron Oestrike's charges opened with a 3-2 win against Maine, edged Clemson by an unimpressive 4-2, and followed up with a convincing 5-1 victory over Arizona State, 2-1 before their first loss to Arizona. The Hurons posted a 46-16 season.

The Series saw a total attendance of 172,433, breaking the all-time record of 102,813 set in 1971.

Besides heroics displayed by Arizona State, other highlights sparkled the Series.

Arizona Head Coach Jerry Kindall reflects a combined look of optimism and concern during the Wildcats' 2-1 victory over undefeated Arizona State in fifth-round action at the 1976 College World Series. Kindall remembers ASU's stunning come-from-behind win in extra innings during the two teams' opening-round Series game.

Stanislaus King

In Division III Golf

Winning its first national title in any sport, California State College-Stanislaus completed its impressive first-year membership in the Association. Stanislaus' consistent play all season was the key to their first national title.

Medalist Dan Lisle sparked the Warriors' title with consistent 73-73-73-75. (289) rounds over the tough par-72 North Course at Reid Park.

Lisle edged Wooster's Roger Loesch and Ashland's Bob Heron, who each tallied a 291 to tie for second-place. Lisle also recorded a 110 by becoming individual national champion in any sport.

Stanislaus felt pressure by general teams throughout the tournament. After three rounds, the Warriors held on by one stroke lead over Southeastern Massachusetts, Hampton-Sydney and Owosso (N.C.) each with 390 scores.

Defending 1975 champ Wooster also challenged after three rounds (191) by recording a 748, the only sub-300 round of the tournament. The Pair had a 794 headed into the final day's play.

But Stanislaus' consistent play held off his leadership to finish the 72-hole invitational with a 2,121. Ashland placed second overall with a 2,127, while Wooster recorded 2,129 for third place in the Division III competition.

Lowest individual score recorded for a single round was a 70 by Oester's Gary Condit in the second round. Condit finished in a five-way tie for 12th with a 306.

A total of 120 golfers from 34 institutions competed in the Championships.

When Martin Robert Cahill first went to work at Whataburger, he couldn't have known that he probably rode the trolley car from South Bend to campus. Once he got there he didn't have to worry about getting lost—there were not enough buildings to confound him. Knute Rockne was the football coach in those days, and Cahill could play his games in Notre Dame Stadium—it had not been built. That was 48 years ago. The campus has changed considerably since then, and Robert Cahill has had a strong hand in the development.

Cahill was just 16 in July, 1928. He came to Notre Dame one month after his high school graduation to fill a summer job before enrolling at the University in September. Or so he thought. That summer job turned into two years of full-time employment as the secretary to the registrar. I was really scared," he admitted. "Heck, I was just 16 and I never had anyone away from home under a scholarship arrangement.

He continued to work part-time and became well known around campus.

Secretary for Loyden

That first fall, he met Elmer Loyden, Hunch Anderson to coach in 1934. One Athletic Department official who had taken quite a liking to Cahill, Herb Jones, the assistant athletic business manager, mentioned Cahill's name to Loyden when he discovered Loyden was looking for a male secretary.

Loyden decided to give him a try, and even though Cahill was still in his senior year, he worked about 10 hours a day. After Loyden's death, Cahill was hired "full-time." He became more familiar with the name Cahill when he discovered Loyden was looking for a male secretary.
