AWARDING THE BEST IN COLLEGIATE TRACK & FIELD ...

THE BOWERMAN

About the Bowerman

The Bowerman, which debuted in 2009, is presented annually by the USTFCCCA to the most outstanding male and female collegiate track & field athletes in the nation.

Southern Utah's Cam Levins and LSU's Kimberlyn Duncan are the reigning winners of The Bowerman, which is named for legendary Oregon track & field and cross country coach Bill Bowerman.

Past winners include Olympic gold medalist and decathlon world-record holder Ashton Eaton (2010), 10,000-meter Olympic silver medalist Galen Rupp (2009), and 2011 IAAF World Champion at 1500 meters, Jenny Simpson (2009).

Bowerman served the sport of track and field in numerous ways. His leadership in the USTFCCCA's predecessor organization, the National Collegiate Track Coaches Association, and his contributions to NCAA track and field and the running community as a whole are among his many lasting legacies.

2011-12 AWARD WINNER: FLORIDA STATE

Head Coach: Bob Braman

The men's program at Florida State is the winner of the USTFCCCA's John McDonnell Program of the Year award for the 2011-2012 academic year. In the closest finish in award history, the Seminoles claimed their second-straight award, finishing just one point ahead of runner-up Indiana. The USTFCCCA Program of the Year award, now in its fourth year of existence, is given to an institution that had the best combined team finishes in each of the NCAA's cross country/track & field sports in a given academic year.

Bob Braman's squad placed fourth last weekend at the NCAA Division I Outdoor Track & Field Championships. The Seminoles placed 12th at the national cross country championships in the fall and in a three-way tie for eighth at the indoor track & field national meet.

All told, Florida State tallied 25 points for the top spot. Indiana posted their best finish in team history, taking second with 26 points. The Hoosiers placed seventh in cross country, sixth in indoor track & field, and a five-way tie for 11th place last weekend (worth 13 points). Texas was third with 27½ points (11 XC, 7 ITF, =9 OTF) for their best finish in program history.

"We try to be as balanced as possible," said Braman, Florida State's Head Coach of Track & Field and Men's Cross Country. "This was a really competitive year and you see a lot of new faces turning up in the competition. It's really gratifying to our coaching staff and our student-athletes that we are recognized as the best all-around program in the country. The interesting thing about the award, because it recognizes the excellence in all three spots, you see some of the track-only programs becoming more active and committed to the distance side and in cross country. You see more programs realizing, as we do, that you can't take seasons off."

A total of 20 programs recorded team finishes at each of the year's NCAA championships.

Florida swept NCAA indoor and outdoor track & field titles to go with a 30th-place showing at the national cross country meet. The Ga-tors placed fifth in the overall standings with 32 points.

Wisconsin, the NCAA Cross Country team champion, finished in a tie with Big Ten foe Minnesota for eighth overall in the standings with 63 points (1 XC, =26 ITF, 32 OTF).

About the Award

The John McDonnell Program of the Year Award is named after USTFCCCA Hall of Famer and former Arkansas head coach John McDonnell. McDonnell's Arkansas teams won a combined 40 National Championships and finished in the top ten in cross country, indoor and outdoor track & field in 24 of his 36 seasons in Fayetteville. Five of his teams won the NCAA Triple Crown.

The NCAA Division I Program of the Year Awards are awarded annually to the most outstanding cross country/track & field programs. The award honors the institution that has achieved the most success in each academic year (spanning the cross country, indoor track & field, and outdoor track & field seasons) based on the institution's finish at the NCAA Division I Championships.

In order to be eligible for the award, teams must qualify for each of the NCAA Championships. Scoring is based on the team's finish at each NCAA Division I Championship in cross country, indoor track & field, and outdoor track & field (i.e. 1st = 1 point, 2nd = 2 points, 31st = 31 points) with the lowest total score for all three championships combined determining the award recipient. Ties among schools split points for positions taken.

2011-12 AWARD WINNER: OREGON

Head Coach: Vin Lananna

The women's program at the University of Oregon is the winner of the USTFCCA's Terry Crawford Program of the Year award for the 2011-2012 academic year. A third-straight NCAA indoor track & field team title along with a second-place national outdoor showing propelled the Ducks to their fourth-straight Program of the Year crown. The USTFCCA Program of the Year award, now in its fourth year of existence, is given to an institution that had the best combined team finishes in each of the NCAA's cross country/track & field sports in a given academic year.

The Ducks, led by Director of Track & Field Vin Lananna, notched an award record eight points (low score wins) with their combined finishes among the three sports. The indoor national crown and outdoor runner-up showing was added to Oregon's fifth-place finish in cross country from the fall to produce the score.

The Pac-12 swept the award's top three spots as Stanford reached a program best second place this year with 29½ points (10 XC, =13 ITF, 6 OTF). Washington, boosted by a runner-up national showing in cross country, claimed third for their best finish in award history with 35 points (2 XC, =23 ITF, 8 OTF).

A total of 16 programs scored at each of the NCAA's championships in 2011-2012.

Georgetown, the NCAA Cross Country team champion, placed eighth overall in the final standings with 50½ points (1 XC, =16 ITF, 33 OTF).

About the Award

The Terry Crawford Women's Program of the Year Award is named after USTFCCA Hall of Famer and former Cal Poly head coach Terry Crawford. Crawford has won five NCAA National Championships, and over 20 Conference Championships. Her 1986 Texas squad remains as the only NCAA DI women's program to ever win the Triple Crown (cross country, indoor track and field, and outdoor track and field titles).

The NCAA Division I Program of the Year Awards are awarded annually to the most outstanding cross country/track & field programs. The award honors the institution that has achieved the most success in each academic year (spanning the cross country, indoor track & field, and outdoor track & field seasons) based on the institution's finish at the NCAA Division I Championships.
