

Barton County Community College Women Capture 1986 Cross Country Title

By DOUG DULL

The campus of Alfred State College in New York sits on a hill. So the formidable climb to the 11th green at Beaver Creek Country Club wasn't a real problem for Julie Ogden.

Ogden, 30, knocked off that hill twice and the rest of the field to win the NJCAA National Women's Cross Country Championship. She covered the 5,000-meter course (3.1 miles) in 18 minutes, 55 seconds.

Pat Hageman of Minnesota-Waseca was second in 19:02, while Janice Posey of Phoenix, Ariz. was third in 19:06.

Barton County, KS, captured its first cross country team title ever, surprising Brevard, NC, and defending champion Phoenix. Barton County, ranked seventh before the meet, scored 62 points, while Brevard (ranked 2nd) had 65 points and Phoenix (ranked 1st) finished with 66.

It took Ogden very little time to assert herself.

"The pack was really fast going out, but it slowed down," she said. "Then, it really slowed down. I said, 'I can't do this' and went out going up the first hill."

That burst of speed after just 600 meters had been run put Ogden ahead at the half-mile mark. At that point, Ogden was in a group that included Elizabeth Tayler of Ricks and Carla Spexarth of Barton Co.

But by the time she'd run the first mile in 5:39 and headed up the hill at 11, Ogden was leading Hageman by some five seconds. Hageman caught Ogden coming down the hill, but Ogden held off the challenge and had built the lead back to seven seconds by the two-mile point.

She held that lead for the remainder of the race, which was run in a shower.

"I liked the course," she said, noting that she didn't really have any troubles until the second time she ran up towards the 11th. Ogden said she knew she had the race in hand when she saw her lead over Hageman going back up to the 11th green.

Ogden finished third in last year's national championship, held in Chicago. "I wanted it this year."
